We just moved into a sassy little home of our very own (okay, we're renting, but who's counting) and we're hearting the whole nesting process. Who would have thought? We might as well throw on an apron and some pearls and call it a day! From adorable, vintage mixing bowls to kitschy throw pillows to sassy bed linens, we're scrounging around each and every boutique we can find. We're pretty sure the lovely ladies who work there are getting more than a little tired of us popping in every other day to ask if they've gotten in anything new.

While the place is coming together, there are still some finishing touches that need to happen. As we continue to channel our happy homemaker side, we invite you to forward this email to 5 or more of your best gal pals and CC picks@phoenixpicks.com. If you're one of the first three, you'll receive a FREE dozen of Sid's Viciously Good Cookies—the most amazing cookies you'll ever binge and purge on (see below for details). Trust us, they'll turn you into a fiend like Nancy Spungen!

Chick Picks:

1 A Vicious Kind of Love

We all have them—those deep, dark, dirty secret loves like drinking pickle juice from the jar. But our latest obsession is one too good not to share (even though we have yet to share a cookie or two with our little bella). Sid's Viciously Good Cookies have just what it takes to throw any preparation for swimsuit season out the door and not feel bad about doing so.

These delish treats are the hottest new darlings to hit the Valley dessert scene, so pick a dozen (or three) up today and be the first to spread the word. In no time the BFFs will trade in their rexie diets for some Peanut Buttahs and Annie Vs. P.S. The cookies will make their in-store debut on May 8 at all local AJs, until then, order them online!
